A MESSAGE

FROM PASTOR

Dear friends and members of St. James Church, peace to you.

*I hope my friend is ok.
I hope the cancer is gone.
I hope the kids are ok.
I hope the Phillies stay in first place.*

Let's say, for example, the Phillies fall out of first place. I can assure you, I'll be disappointed, but what does that do to my hope?

During this month of June, in addition to bringing the Season of Easter to a conclusion, and the Day of Pentecost (also Youth Sunday!), we will celebrate The Holy Trinity on June 16 (also the day of our Picnic!), where we will hear from the book of Romans that "hope does not disappoint us."

In this reading, St. Paul takes us on an odyssey from suffering to endurance, to character to hope; each one accumulating and producing the other until we get to hope, and hope does not disappoint us, "because God's love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit that has been given to us."

So what does that say for my beloved Phillies if they come in last place? Well, maybe it is about the process that involves suffering, endurance, character, and hope, and less about the result. My hope for you and for us is not wasted regardless of the result. The Holy Spirit does not allow for hope to disappoint, and grants us so many blessings and gifts of the spirit along the way.

Between Youth Sunday, our Picnic, the congregational Meeting, our worship life where we will also dedicate our beautiful new altar, there is a great deal to build endurance, character, and hope in our life together. Join Us!
I HOPE you have a great summer; I Love you, Peace, Pastor Scott

Zion's Children of Haiti is a non-profit initiated in Connecticut and one of Saint James' mission partners. Their mission is partnering with Haitians to support education for school aged children in the Hurricane ravaged town of Gonaives, and is hosting its 10th annual 5K in Salt Lake City, UT on June 22nd. This year there will be a new opportunity for those not local to Utah to participate via a virtual runner or walker option. Registration fee is $30/person, $15/child or group rates available and 100% of fees will go to support school tuition as well as a summer program and feeding program for children in need. Online registration is now available at www.zionschildrenofhaiti.org. Sign up and run or walk from wherever you are! HOMEFRONT DAY

The most heartfelt of thanks for all your hard work and for making this year's Homefront Day project possible. Homefront is not a reality without each one of you – from those who provided food and drinks, to those who supported our fundraising and provided donations, to the painters and the scrapers, the gardeners and the bricklayers, the carpenters, handymen, plumbers and electricians – you should all be proud of a project very well done. Hope you all had an enjoyable experience and we'll see you next year.

SOUTHBURY FARMERS MARKET

Don't forget that the Southbury Farmers Market will begin for the year at the end of June 19. It will run all summer on Thursday from 3-6pm on the Town Hall Green. Part of caring for God's creation is being a good steward – we can help this by eating locally produced foods to cut down on use of fuel for transportation. Plus it tastes GREAT!!!

Southbury Food Bank Collection

Saint James is doing a great job keeping up support of the rice shelf at the Southbury Food Bank – keep up the great work!!!! The food bank serves about 100 families in the community – each family is allowed to visit twice monthly and can take a rice item at each visit.... That's a LOT of rice. We are looking for one family each month to bring the donation to the food bank after church on the second Sunday of the month. Please sign up in the gathering area.

All the Jobs I've Had (and the ones I didn't get) Have Helped me to this Day

All the Jobs I've had through the years, as well as the ones I didn't get, have contributed to my work. I currently serve as bishop of the New England Synod. Serving as a bishop is a job and a calling that involves conflict management, human resources personnel work, leading meetings, determining direction of an organization, understanding a foundational level of financial budgets, staff supervision, from time to time an opportunity to pray with people and an occasional scheduled or spontaneous engagement in public speaking. I have often said I do three things. They are a) provide clarity, b) say thank you and c) cause trouble. The key is knowing when to apply the right tool.

What prepared me for this work? Academic Education, books, conferences, webinars? Maybe, but in reality, the following jobs made me for this work.

Assistant for Maintenance – In the summer of 1973, my Junior High School principal offered me a job. Five days a week, 8:30m a.m. till 3:30 p.m. I rode my bike each and when I showed up he assigned me a job. The tasks ranged from cleaning windows, painting desks, washing out classrooms, sanding down handrails. In other words, I did chores that needed to be done but were below the work of the full-time custodian/maintenance guy. What I learned from this job was the value of work. What I most recall from this summer some 45 years later is that I rode my bike every day to work, and at the age of 13, I discovered freedom and independence. I also learned how to navigate rush hour traffic.

Ice Scream Scooper for 31 Flavors aka Baskin Robbins – For about one year I worked after school at this store. The owners of the franchise were two couples who were related to each other. Two things stand out from this experience. The first involves an attempt by a customer to trick me out of the change I was giving him. This was a common petty crime in which someone would buy a small item, give you a ten dollar bill, talk a great deal to distract you, and then insist that he gave you a 20 and want the change. I figured the character out quickly and told him he could leave the store. The other story involves the owners. When I got hired, the owners issued two uniform shirts, and they deducted $3.75 from your first four paychecks. If you kept the shirts in good condition, you would be refunded the total of  $4 \times $3.75 = $15$ . When I left that job, the owners insisted that the amount was $10. I had kept all my pay stubs in a drawer at home, so I went and was able to find my first, second, and fourth pay stub. Each was showing the $3.75, but I couldn't find the third stub. When I brought the three pay stubs to demonstrate that they owed me the total of $15 for the good condition returned shirts, the owner said, "Nope, sorry, it was ten dollars, and that missing stub would show it." I learned a lot about human nature, the power of pettiness, and greed. Mostly I learned how not to treat employees. I also discovered that my favorite flavor is Mocha Almond Fudge.

Insurance Document Courier – While in college, my friend Roger worked for an Insurance company. His job was to manage its fleet of company-owned cars. These were big long Oldsmobile, Lincoln, and Cadillacs. He needed someone to help, but mostly it turned out that what the company needed was a delivery driver. This was at a time before email and fax machines. My job was to drive all over Los Angeles to pick and deliver documents for this insurance agency. Think Uber driver of paper, not people. What did I learn from this job? One thing, one crucial thing. Namely, the most important people for any company are the secretarial support staff. They do all the real work, and if you treat them well, everything goes much smoother.

A & R Rep for CBS Records – This is a job I did not get. My interview was so bizarre as to involve myself and the other candidate sitting in an office on Wilshire Blvd with a bunch of obnoxious young executives listening to a horrible song. They claimed this song would be the next big hit. They also discussed all of the "side benefits" of working in the entertainment industry. I left that office and thought I'd been in the midst of the most childish group of adults ever. They never called me back, and it was the best job I didn't get. I drove back to my summer job as a camp counselor, where I enjoyed working with children who behaved more like adults. Looking back, I realize this was a transitional moment in my young adult life. I also learned that sometimes it might be proper not to get the job.

Youth Director – All Saint's Lutheran Church was looking for a youth director, and I applied during my first semester of seminary. The congregation's pastor gave me the freedom to experiment, challenge the suburban culture of comfort, and express my complex theological ideas. I worked there for two years. It was my first real exposure to congregational life. I saw the best and the worst of people. After two years, I was convinced that being a pastor was the last thing I should do with my life. Two years later, I was ordained and called to serve my first congregation in Brooklyn. My All Saint's experience taught me the first step in the Journey is the Refusal of the Call...and it's just that, the first step.

Statement from ELCA presiding bishop addresses synagogue shooting

On Saturday {April 27}, the last day of Passover, another shooting occurred at a synagogue — this time, Chabad of Poway, in California. The living had gathered to offer prayers to honor the dead and to close the Jewish festival of God's liberating promise. Once again, worship was interrupted by deadly violence.

We stand against this latest public act of anti-Semitism and domestic terrorism, and with the Jewish community. Together, with our ecumenical and inter-religious partners, we will continue to "oppose the deadly working of such bigotry, both within our own circles and in the society around us" ("Declaration of ELCA to Jewish Community," 1994).

We grieve with the community of Poway, with the victims and their families, and with all those who are wounded in mind, body and spirit by this latest act of violence committed in a sacred space.

We continue to grieve the shooting six months ago at Tree of Life Synagogue in Pittsburgh; the mosque shootings six weeks ago in Christchurch, New Zealand; the arson one month ago of three historic Black churches in Louisiana; and the church bombings on Easter Sunday in Sri Lanka.

We find ourselves, like the psalmist, crying out to God that "the enemy has destroyed everything in the sanctuary" (Psalm 74:3b). We know that these incidents, together with others, are not isolated. They are linked through a tangled web of religious bigotry, violence, hatred and white supremacy that is meant to divide us — from each other and from God.

Therefore, our actions to address anti-Semitism must oppose all deadly workings in our midst. This is hard work but also holy work. An attack on one faith community is an attack on all. As a sign of God's liberating promise, let us stand against this scourge by standing together. May it be so.

In Peace,
The Rev. Elizabeth A. Eaton, Presiding Bishop, ELCA

AN APPLE A DAY: June is Men's Health Awareness Month

June is Men's Health Month. On the average men die five years younger than women. Men die at higher rates of nine of the top ten causes of death. Men are less likely to have health insurance. All of this affects men's ability to be involved fathers and supportive spouses. Many of the factors that contribute to men's less healthy and shorter lives are preventable. The top causes of death are heart disease, lung, colon and prostate cancers, lung disease, diabetes, flu/pneumonia and kidney and liver diseases.

Prevention starts with seeing a health care provider on a regular basis. Men visit primary care providers at a lower rate than women. Establishing baselines for blood pressure, blood sugar, cholesterol, weight and PSA (screening test for risk of prostate cancer), monitoring how these readings change over time will help to catch dangerous trends while they are treatable. Other screenings include, self-testicular exams, colon cancer tests, STD screenings, lung cancer low radiation CT Scans, HIV, and Hepatitis C. Vaccinations include Pneumococcal pneumonia vaccines, shingles vaccine and the tetanus booster every 10 years.

The benefits of physical activity are extensive. It can be difficult to find motivation to start a new routine. Joining a community league or just starting by walking 5 minutes 5 days a week, Simple, but sometimes difficult to do! The heart organizations recommend 150 minutes a week and not more than two days off in a row.

The DASH or Mediterranean diet is recommended for overall healthy eating to support good heart and bone health. The diets support a diet rich in fruits, vegetables, low fat and nonfat dairy, lean meats, fish and poultry, nuts/beans and seeds and limited amounts of whole grains. This results in improved metabolism, lower body fat, improved heart fitness without counting calories. Remind father's and husbands that they are very much loved and needed to be healthy and alive.

Men's Health week is June 11-17th.
